The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Oct. 12.

THE MILITARY configurations ruling the day are conflicting. While there are some adverse aspects to be reckoned on yet there are definite promises of making progress, especially with the public, the community or those in influential positions. There may be danger from sudden and unconsidered change or hasty and rash speech or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year calling for more than usual discretion and well-considered plans, should they desire to achieve projects of a surprising and lucrative nature. This however might bring defeat and disappointment if there are erratic, reckless or impulsive acts, in writings or speech. Deal tactfully with those in power and authority.

A child born on this day should have an alert and progressive mind, but at times it may be carried away by excitement and emotional mistakes.

America's 450 Years

Wide World Features

It is just an old story, the story of a new world rising amid much infinite strife. They started their leader, a man named Columbus, wanted to find a new route to the Indies. On the 500th day land was sighted, the discovery resulted in an island. Here are the highlights coming down the long chain of events which began that day.

DISCOVERY: On Oct. 12, 1492, Columbus stopped ashore to plant the standard of Spain in the Bahamas. He voyaged south, found Cuba and San Domingo.

EXPLORATION: By 1502, explorers had uncovered vast sections of the Americas. Here, Sir Walter Raleigh is commissioned by Elizabeth to found a colony for England in Virginia.

COLONIZATION: By 1602, cavaliers had settled toward the south. Puritans were in New England, where witch-burning was a peak force. The colonies were becoming strong.

PARENTHESIS: 1792, the colonies had become the United States of America. Congress met at Independence Hall.

DETERMINED: Oct. 12, 1942, 450 years after Columbus, the U. S. heads the western hemisphere in joining other free nations in a struggle to preserve freedom.

ENGINEER KILLED IN CRASH OF TRAINS

Friday Is Deadline for Landlords To Register With Rent Director

Locomotive Hits Rear of Freight Near Cleveland. Blanks Available Several Places in Downtown Area; Penalty Provided for Violators.

By the Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Oct. 12—Investigators today attempted to learn the cause of a New York Central railroad freight train collision which killed an engineer, overturned a locomotive and derailed six box cars at suburban Garfield Heights.

The victim was Hugo Robertson of Elyria, 47-year-old engineer of a coal-laden, 96-car train whose locomotive yesterday plowed into the rear of a 12-car freight standing on the Youngstown-Elyria belt line track.

After shearing off the end of the caboose, which caught fire along with the wrecked box cars, the engine continued 100 feet before overturning. Firemen Valentine Lorrenzen of Sandusky and Brakeman Gordon Ely of Elyria were riding in the engine cab with Robertson, but escaped with minor injuries.

Several of the coal-laden cars on the moving train were piled up, and coal spilled from them was ignited by the flames. Police worked more than five hours to extricate Robertson's body.

Railroad officials declined comment on the cause of the crash pending completion of the investigation, but spectators reported visibility was poor at the time of the accident.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY CAMPBELL SCHOOL CLUB

Roy Thompson Chosen President;
Flag Presented.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the Campbell School Community club Friday night at the school. They are Roy Thompson, president; Justin Parise, vice president; Mrs. George Kueger, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Ralph Bentley, assistant secretary and treasurer. In spite of the inclement weather 70 members and guests attended the meeting at which a flag was presented to the school by Mary A. Canfield council, Daughters of Nutley, N. J.

Schwarzenbeck and his co-pilot Kenneth Jones of Detroit, Mich., probably will not be cited or decorated because their feats did not take place on a combat mission—but on a practice mission 32,000 feet above this island.

It happened when the number four motor of Schwarzenbeck's plane, Alma Jane—named for his wife who lives in Coral Gables, Fla.—started to race. A big piece of the propeller broke off and imbedded itself in the cowling of the number three motor.

With one motor useless, Schwarzenbeck rang the alarm bell warning his crew to be prepared to jump and started a slow climb downward.

Another Motor Explodes
At 29,000 feet the number three motor suddenly exploded, wrecking the landing gear and spreading a sheet of flaming oil from one end of the plane to the other.

While Jones raced through the long fortress gateway seeing that everybody got their chutes and virtually pushing them out the escape hatch, Schwarzenbeck fought the controls of the burning and smoking plane trying to keep it steady and the flames under control.

Jones staggered back to the cockpit with Schwarzenbeck's parachute.

"Here, let's jump," Jones exclaimed. "Be damned if I will, this plane is named after my wife and it's part of me. I'm going to take her down," Schwarzenbeck replied.

At this moment the number two motor caught fire and desperately Schwarzenbeck cut off the remaining motor and slowed the flaming ship down in a slow glide, sideslipping in an attempt to put out the fire.

He ordered Jones to jump and the co-pilot stumbled back to the escape hatch and leaped, pulling his ripcord a split second before losing consciousness.

Farmer Stands Guard
When Jones recovered he was standing over him with a pitchfork poised trying to decide whether he was a German parachutist.

Meanwhile, Schwarzenbeck skillfully glided the burning Alma Jane down through the cloud layer at about 9,000 feet, not knowing whether the mist covered a mountain into which he might crash or open country.

As he entered the cloud the

SEES ALLIED POWER GROW

Says Strength Gain
Arie Hitler's Hopes
Darken.

The Associated Press
LONDON, SCOTLAND, Oct. 12.—Prime Minister Churchill pictured United States, Russia, Britain today as moving forward from "strength" while Hitler's have darkened to a degree."

A serious and confident repeating the freedom of Churchill assured Edinburgh that "no weakness exists to the Germans" in the over the chipping of war prisoners and reported

1. August and September were the least bad months since January in allied shipping losses, and new building outpaces sinkings.

2. The same two months saw the greatest tonnage of British bombs dropped upon Germany.

3. They also marked the definite growth of allied air superiority.

And these months, too, he said,
have covered the most numerous safe arrivals of United States
troops in the British Isles.

Making his speech a reply to recent utterances by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Goering and Hitler, the prime minister asserted.

Detects Note of Fear

"There is one note which rings through all those speeches — a dull, low whining note of fear and a different note from that heard when Britain stood alone."

The most striking and curious part of Hitler's speech was his complaint that no one pays sufficient attention to his victories,

Churchill continued. "It strikes a chill into his marrow because in his heart he knows that with all his tremendous victories and vast conquests his fortunes have declined."

"It was apparent to me," he went on, "that this bad man saw quite clearly the shadow of slowly approaching doom."

Referring to the marching of 1,375 British and Canadian prisoners by the Germans and reprisal chamings by the British, Prime Minister Churchill declared, "I say to show weakness of any kind toward such a man as Hitler is only to encourage him to further atrocities and you may be assured
no weakness will be shown."

War Cabinet Meets

Churchill's statement followed a week-end session of the war cabinet which reviewed the shacklings, started by the Germans in a reprisal for alleged fettering of German prisoners captured during the Aug. 19 raid on Dieppe. The British retaliated Saturday.

Giving a thumbnail sketch of the war situation, Churchill said:
"U-boat warfare still remains the greatest problem of the United Nations but there is no reason whatever why it should not be solved by judicious measures of offense and defense and/or replacement on which Britain and Canada, and above all the United States, are now engaged."

"The months of August and September have been, I will not say the best, but the least bad months since January," the prime minister said.

"These months have seen the new building of merchant ships which substantially outweigh the losses. They have seen the greatest tonnage of British bombs dropped upon Germany. They have covered the most numerous safe arrivals of United States

troops in the British Isles.

They have marked the definite growth of allied air superiority over Germany, Italy and Japan.

It is not my habit to encourage lightly-found expectations, but these are solid and remarkable facts."

CRAWFORD COUNTY PUT IN RENT AREA

Freezing Order Extended to Other Ohio Areas.

The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The office of price administration, in its most sweeping move against inflated costs for living quarters, has ordered freezing of residential rents in 87 more defense-rental areas across the nation, including nine sections of state of Ohio.

The freezing, encompassed in orders which OPA said were "being issued immediately," is executive Nov. 1 and cuts rents back to the level prevailing last March 1.

The OPA said it would operate some of the new areas from sites already established in nearby defense-rental areas. Directors for the new areas will be announced after this month. OPA added.

The new Ohio rent areas, giving the location and extent of area, include: Ashland, Crawford and Richland counties.

Beekeepers Hear Talk by O.S.U. Specialist

Dr. W. E. Dunham of Ohio State university, specialist in bee culture, spoke at a meeting of the Marion County Beekeepers association Friday night. He discussed various problems which will face bee keepers during the coming winter. Bees have not been able to get pollen to produce enough honey to feed them through the winter because of wet, cold weather this year.

Because of the government's interest in a large bee population for purposes of pollinating plants which will be needed to take care of the food needs of the nation at war, beekeepers may look for some aid from the government in keeping their bees alive, it has been made known.

Besides Dr. Dunham who is extension agent for the state in the bee industry and cooperates with county agricultural agents in research through the Wooster experiment station, in addition to his work at the university, several persons from the Marion beekeeper group were visitors.

Kentucky Man Held by Hardin Co. Sheriff

Special to The Star
KENTON, Oct. 12.—Warren
Barnett, about 40, was held here today for Sheriff Annie Stumbo of Floyd county, Kentucky, upon a murder charge preferred by relatives of Walter Wadkins, also of Kentucky, following Wadkins' death in a hospital earlier last week.

Sheriff Randall R. Clark said the man surrendered to him Friday evening and waived extradition.
Barnett claimed that he and Wadkins fought and that, to protect himself, he struck his opponent with a rock. Later he fled to Hardin county, west of Kenton, where a brother lives. After learning that Wadkins died he gave himself up.

Protect Health, Medical Academy FATAL ACCIDENTS Urge As War Calls Marion Doctors DECLINE IN MARION

Eight Recommendations Made by Group To Make Limited Services Most Effective.

The necessity for complete cooperation between the public and the medical profession of Marion city and county, to insure adequate medical care and health protection for the duration of the war, was stressed in a statement issued today by the Marion County Academy of Medicine.

The academy, of which Dr. J. G. McNamara is president, issued the statement in face of the community's loss of many of its physicians already and the fact that others will be called to go before the war is over.

Eight specific recommendations were made by the academy to the public, outlining how the residents of Marion city and county can aid physicians who remain to provide medical care for the civilian population while their colleagues are in military service.

The recommendations are as follows:

- When you need medical care, see your physician promptly.
- Minimize home calls. If at all possible, see your physician in his office to help him save time.

- When a house call is necessary, telephone your physician as early in the day as possible so that he may plan his schedule in advance.

- Prevent such unnecessary diseases as smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, whooping cough and polio by taking modern methods of immunization.

- Avoid such ordinary health hazards as drinking unsafe water and milk, exposure to contagious disease, carelessness and weather risks.

- Eat a balanced diet, including plenty of "protective foods."
- Get sufficient daily rest.

- Take an active interest in the approved health education programs sponsored by reliable community agencies as part of the home-front defense.

"The program outlined," the academy officers stated, "consists mainly of two types of advice—first, suggestions for cooperating with physicians to avoid needless demands for their time and services; and, second, methods of protecting personal health by fore-stalling preventable illness."

Poll Indicates How Nation Would Vote on Manpower Drafting, Taxes, Labor

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute
of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12.—At a time when America is faced with more serious problems than at any period in a generation, the coming election will actually shed little light on the mandate of the people concerning national issues.

About the only thing the national elections will decide is whether the Republicans will control the house, or the Democrats.

Yet if each of the 60 million eligible voters of the country could not only vote on candidates but could also vote his opinion on issues of the day in an advisory plebiscite, hours of futile debate in Congress and in the nation could be avoided. Such an advisory plebiscite was held in Canada only a few months ago on the question of conscription for overseas duty.

Portrait: Canada Vote

One of the services which modern scientific surveys can perform is to show, with a small margin of error, just how the country would vote on the pressing public issues of today. If those issues were put to all the people in an official plebiscite, In Canada, for example, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion was able to know nine weeks before the conscription plebiscite how Canada was going to vote.

At this time the United States is faced with the issue of manpower mobilization for war industries—one of the most serious problems of the war. If this question could be placed on the official election ballot, and be voted upon by each citizen in the polling booths this November, the results would show an overwhelming sentiment for action.

Judging by Institute surveys, a manpower mobilization program would be voted into effect by a small majority of about 2 to 1, giving the government the right to draft workers at will and move them about the country if necessary.

A plebiscite on other important issues would show the following:

Overtime pay in war industries would start after a 48-hour week instead of 40 hours, if the majority had its way.

A program for conscripting single women aged 21-35 for wartime jobs would be voted into effect.

A United Nations Supreme War Council, including Russia and China, would be approved in order to direct and coordinate global strategy.

Young men 18-19 would be drafted before married men with shown some governmental meetings with the approval and others with disapproval, indicating that in electing their leaders they subscribe to all the policies adopted by these leaders.

Defining Mandates

Defining the mandate given by voters at election time is a problem that has perplexed political scientists for many generations.

James Bryce, the historian, observed that while in election of government officials is a sort of direct referendum, it is not a completely satisfactory way of determining the public's judgment, because electors come only at fixed intervals, and, moreover, it is difficult to separate issues and men.

The truth of this observation has been borne out many times in Institute surveys. These have

PUTTING 10 PERCENT OF YOUR EARNINGS INTO WAR BONDS ISN'T SACRIFICE . . . IT'S SAVING!

Let's not kid ourselves.

Our buying War Bonds isn't a sacrifice even though the money's badly needed for our country's Victory.

We're not GIVING anything; we're BEING paid for lending. The Government even guarantees to return our money safe and sound—plus interest.

So where does the sacrifice come in? It doesn't!

Unless you think taking a bus instead of your car compares with flying in a bomber with a Jap machine gun pouring bullets at you . . .

Unless you think resting on your porch in the evening instead of going out on a party compares with crouching on your knees all night in a mud-upholstered fox hole . . . . Unless you think spending less and saving more compares with risking your life for your country . . .

Nobody thinks so. "Risking your life for your country" is a privilege that we who are left behind would gladly share, if we could.

And that's why, if anybody's been buying a Bond now and then and thought he was doing his part, he's been kidding himself.

That's why, unless we want Hitler and the Japs to come over and take — not borrow — 100 per cent of what we've built in a free America, we'd better put at least 10 per cent of our pay into War Bonds every pay day.

MEASURES TO OFFER ANOTHER TAX PLAN

Security Increase and Levy Proposed.

Associated Press
Oct. 12.—The recommendation includes a security payroll with a stiff spending and financing program to Congress completed on the 12th.

A measure, called the contribution to war by Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, went to the Senate yesterday. It is expected to be approved tomorrow with a view to begin the work of the conference passed by the two houses.

Passed hope this will finish its work and congress adjourns from Secretary of State Morgenthau that on Capitol Hill as soon as the measure was signed.

It has not said what it expects these measures to do for revival of the proposal, once referred to a vote of the Senate.

Sen. (R-OH) expected that the treasury would combine such a proposed increase in tax levies in a new program.

Indenbergh (R-Mich) said if made any attempt to expand social security at their present level, each on employers.

Motorist and Priest Report Threats from Gang.

Associated Press

PAW PAW, Mich., Oct. 12.—State police and sheriff's officers clamped a road blockade on southwestern Michigan following a motorist's report the desperadoes Roger Touhy, and four or five companions in a car threatened him with a tommy gun near here at 11 m. today.

Meanwhile, a telephoned threat to a Catholic priest turned Illinois state police to Indiana in their widespread hunt for Touhy and his six fellow convicts who fled the Stateville, Ill., prison Friday afternoon.

Monsignor Thomas Conroy of the Fort Wayne, Ind., cathedral told Chicago police yesterday that a lisp-spouting man, who identified himself as one of the Touhy gang had called him on the telephone and said "we'll get you to-day or tonight."

Officials in the state's attorney's office said Msgr. Conroy was instrumental in disludging an Indianapolis priest from appearing as a defense witness in Roger Touhy's second trial for the 1933 kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Barker.

Mackenzie Finds Good Points in British News Censorship

Based on Belief Public Is Entitled to Information on News of Armed Forces.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The British censorship of news—watch to see the least, is one of the most liberal of the many under which I have worked in countries of both hemispheres—is based on the philosophy that the wartime morale of a nation is in direct ratio to the amount of information the public gets, especially from the battlefield.

Since this principle obviously is producing amazingly fine results in John Bull's domains, it encouraged me to reiterate here the view I expressed not long before leaving New York on this trip.

It is this:

The way we Americans can get the real feel of the war, which up to now has been so far away from us, is to transport us through the press into the heat of battle. Let the home folk in spirit fight by the side of our boys and bleed with them and die with them. This may be achieved by reporting the news fully while it is hot—not in filtered form a week or a month after the ashes are cold.

One of British Tenets

I quickly discovered that this is one of the tenets of the British censorship when I turned for editing services to Minister of Information Brendan Braden and later to the chief censor, Head Admiralty G. P. Thomson. Of course, one of the problems of Messrs. Braden and Thomson is that the two are merely go-betweens for the armed services and the public.

Braden's head shoulders heaved and his fury was bristled.

"Press自由 must be exploited."

"It wouldn't be fair to the public. And no men who isn't a trained and experienced journalist is capable of producing the report to which the people are entitled."

Believes in Free Expression

"We believe in giving the press freedom of expression. During the desert fighting in northern Africa, British correspondents in the field ever criticized our command. They raised the devil with us, but we let them go ahead. We think they have the right to express their views."

Thomson is emphatic in support of the thesis that full access to the news is essential to maintain the morale of the people. He agrees, too, that officers couldn't be used as censors as we correspondents.

There is a debate in Britain as to whether it is better to let the men do the fighting, as well as the public, that they be kept fully informed of all angles of the war.

I asked the admiral how he felt about it.

"Decidedly it is essential," he replied.

As a matter of fact, when I was in command at sea I used to give a lecture on world news to my crew every week."

"We get an even better glimpse of this man who is conducting one of the most difficult and difficult jobs in the world when we are given the code under which he works."

Let him tell you himself.

"It would be best, I think, to keep the enemy in the dark about everything but if we did that it would mean keeping our own people in the dark and that would never do for the people have the right to know what is going on around them."

"They have the right to draw their own conclusions, to criticize and to demand what appears wrong to them," could be put right.

"Between these two competing principles, the press center is trying to produce a result which gives effect to them both."

MAIN LINE BLOCKED

EIGHT DIE IN CRASH

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 12.—An army bombing plane crashed on a farm hillside three miles from the Topeka air base Sunday, carrying eight men to their deaths and leaving the one survivor critically injured. # Navy Pre-Flight Squads Ahead of College Elevens

Bernie Bierman's Seahawks Smother Michigan 26-14, To Prove Superiority Over Collegiates.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—With freshmen holding first team berths and strangers holding coaching jobs, it's little wonder that the unprecedented wartime football season, rapidly approaching the halfway mark, has the fans holding their heads.

Those who appreciate action in carload lots will have to wait no longer than the coming weekend for more of the same.

If the season has proved nothing else, it has shown that the navy can produce teams from among its pre-flight trainees that are better than the best collegiate squads, but even this convincing demonstration may strike a snag before another week.

Fare Noste Dame

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawks, whose 26-14 victory over Michigan last week added the Wolverines to a list of victims that already included Northwestern and Minnesota, are due for another stern Saturday against a Notre Dame team that finally has found itself.

With accurate Angelo Bertelli passing to all four touchdowns, the Irish whipped Stanford last Saturday, 27-6.

Illinois, fresh from its surprising 20-13 triumph over Minnesota, stakes its clean record against Iowa in another midwestern headliner and Wisconsin, 17-9 conqueror of Missouri, meets Great Lakes Naval, Michigan and Northwood collide in another Big Ten game.

One of the East's principal attractions will find Pennsylvania, which walloped Yale, 35-6, bumping into Princeton, the team that surprised Navy, 10-4.

Jim Crowley's North Carolina Pre-Flighters traveled to Boston college; Cognac, conqueror of Dartmouth Saturday, has an intersectional date with Duke, and Pitt entertains an Indiana team that shut out Nebraska, 12-0.

Georgia Faces Tulane

Georgia and Frank Stukelich, fresh from a 48-13 win over Mississippi for the fourth in a row, stake an unblemished record against Tulane, which again is winning on alternate Saturdays and stopped Rice, 18-7, on its last outing.

Another southern thriller might be the tussle between Alabama and Tennessee.

In the southwest, Texas will be opening its bid for conference honors against Arkansas.

U. C. L. A., which upset Oregon State's defending champions on the Pacific coast, 30-7, bumps into California, which has lost two close ones, the last, 7-6, to Santa Clara.

Flynn, Walker Fight in Columbus Oct. 19

100 Bushels of Soybeans and Other Grains Lost in Early Today.

in The Star Oct. 12—The Ridgeway elevator burned to the ground, causing loss to the owner, Evans, at $40,000.

The 70-foot elevator which had been a landmark for half a century was destroyed 8,000 bushels of soybeans, a long warehouse of feed and stored inside it, 4,000 bushels of grain, hundred bushel truck also burned, and the loss of $100 on the contents of $20,000 on the books. The loss was covered by insurance, will not be rebuilt. He couldn't get sufficient to replace it even to build.

Property Saved

A Mt. Victory fire destroyed dozens of volunteers tire out of control, so they converged on saving two stations, a large gasoline station adjoined the elevator. All were saved, apparently broke out, but no one in contact. First word came around 1 a.m. Mitchell of Ridgeway got bed to answer call from Kenton, passing through Ridgeway on a train in an attempt to put out the blaze, went to town and called back to alarm.

Notified Brugler and summoned help. After the Kenton and fire departments arrived at the blaze continued to persons from the roadside gathered.

Deformities of Newborn

All congenital deformities should be treated as soon after birth as possible. I do not mean that surgical or other corrective treatment of a radical nature need be started in the first week of life, but I do mean that as soon as the deformity is recognized or even suspected medical practitioner or a woman in the family has complete confidence and who has had experience in this field, should be selected, should be called to see the baby, and after examination should have the privilege of mapping a plan of campaign.

I say "a practitioner in a born the family has complete confidence" because most congenital deformities cannot be corrected by a single brilliant stroke; it is usually a matter of many repeated manœuvres extending over a period of at least a year, and perhaps several years; a period which requires patience and courage on the part of parents and doctor and complete confidence.

A tragic aspect of these conditions is that it is often so hard to convince the parents that the baby has a deformity. The eye is a little off center, perhaps, but then Carolyn says all babies are like that at first. The baby is unable to nurse, the milk comes back through the nose, but it couldn't be cleft palate. Uncle Ned says he remembers father was like that when he was a baby. It is comforting to believe Grandmother and Uncle Ned, but not good for the adult life of the baby.

In some cases this is likely to be true as in the deformities of the foot. The baby can't stand, so no one can tell actually how the foot looks in action, and then babies' feet are so funny anyway—the soles face each other and all that. So many precious months are wasted, while the tissues are getting tougher and tougher and harder and harder to replace in the normal position.

The foot deformities of the newborn, as well classified by Dr. Frederick R. Thompson of New York, are the result of contractures holding a section of the foot in a position which is a part of its usual range of normal motion.

Thus the foot may be held with the toe end down so that the heel can never be placed flat on the floor. This is obviously due to a shortening of the tough tendon that goes from the back of the heel into the calf.

Clubfoot is a laxation of the foot in the position where the toes are pointing at the instep of the other foot. It is a perfectly normal position within the normal range of motion of the foot, but, of course, not normal if held there by bands of tendons and connective tissue which will not allow it to swing back through the rest of its normal range.

Nobody knows exactly the cause of these contractures. Best guess is that before birth the child's body gets in a position where the foot is held against some other part of the body until contraction results.

Treatment is by slow stretching
